DCI SECURITY COMMITTEE
MONTHLY ACTIVITIES REPORT
NOVEMBER 1980

1. The Committee held a lengthy discussion of possible use of the polygraph in connection with access by personnel to sensitive compartmented information (SCI). The consensus favored emphasis in such use on counterintelligence issues, within a framework which would leave agencies such as CIA and NSA free to continue polygraph coverage of other areas of security concern such as life style. Areas of discussion included supervisory controls over examiners and whether the polygraph should be used with initial investigations, in connection with reinvestigations, or both. Committee members agreed unanimously to task the Investigative Standards Working Group further to consider use of the polygraph beginning with reinvestigations of personnel for SCI access.

3. Another Committee staff member participated as a security consultant in putting into final form recommendations to restructure the COMIREX substructure to provide for greater consolidation of activities without diminution of extensive Community participation and to assure staff support from the Photint Tasking Office.
